

IT Recruitment

Whether you are looking for someone to build your next SOA application in .NET, Project Manage your new iPhone app build, take complete responsibility for the infrastructure or just to improve SLA's on the Service Desk we've got it covered. Yolk IT is built on technical expertise and this allows us to find and qualify better candidates for your needs.

With such a diverse set of skills that make up a typical IT Department we understand the need for technical expertise to fill vacancies this is why we only employ technical recruiters who will take their time to understand your needs, create innovative recruitment solutions and deliver speedy results. We are not limited by geographical boundaries and offer both contract and permanent resources.

We recruit for roles including (but not limited to):

- CIO/CTO/IT Director/Manager
- Project Managers/Business Analysts
- Developers
- Testers
- Infrastructure support
- Service Desk Analysts
- DBA's

“

I write to place on file how Yolk Recruitment has always been efficient and proactive in understanding our IT recruitment business needs and we are confident we can call on them at any time to fulfill our recruitment requirements across any aspect of our business.

The quality and friendliness of the staff is always excellent and the follow-up service we get is very supportive. It is refreshing to have a recruitment company that care about the service they provide and the candidates they recommend.

Chris Davies ”

Project Manager
Professional Driver Services

We take a hands-on proactive approach when it comes to finding the best candidates so expect us to use social networks, online forums, mobile-marketing and even head-hunting to identify your next IT hire. To arrange a meeting or for a confidential conversation with a Technical Recruiter, please call 02920 220078 or email info@yolkrecruitment.com

Companies we work with

